Structuring for the sale of a business or, conversely, making the right acquisition to expand into new markets, brings risks and rewards. In today's recovering economy, entrepreneurs face complex issues and difficult decisions when contemplating growth or exit strategies for their business. With the pace of change in the M & A market due to the impact of COVID-19, successful transactions require careful and thoughtful analysis to maximize value to a buyer or seller of a business. Our team helps you navigate the complexity of a transaction by using our mergers and acquisition experience and industry knowledge to help you minimize risk and optimize value during acquisitions, dispositions, recapitalizations, mergers, reorganizations, formations, and other significant transactions. From the signing of the letter of intent (LOI) through the successful close, the mergers and acquisitions professionals at HCVT provide useful insights on matters relevant to the decision-making process, including quality of earnings, cash flow, tax due diligence and structuring, and hidden exposures.

Sell-Side Services

Sell-side due diligence is a required step for entrepreneurs to conduct and evaluate as they consider the sale of their business. The collective goal between buyer and seller is to avoid surprises. Up-front sell-side due diligence can bring an efficient and cost-effective process to the transaction. We tailor our approach for each transaction, as every transaction is unique. Sharing the results of sell-side diligence can often reduce purchase price adjustment later in the transaction cycle. Our team will provide insights about issues discovered in the diligence process that will help keep the transaction on track.

What we do:

- Quality of earnings review to calculate normalized EBITDA
- Evaluate normal working capital calculations
- Review accounting methods to confirm compliance with GAAP
- Strategic tax review to identify opportunities and exposures and help take the target company to market

Buy-Side Services

In this disrupted economy, understanding the target's future financial performance and outlook is complex. Buyers will not only need to understand historical performance but how current economic conditions will impact opportunities and risks. Our team draws on industry knowledge and specialization as we help buyers evaluate the unique risks and opportunities associated with acquiring a target company. We work collaboratively with all deal participants to understand the financial and tax issues with a common objective of getting the best deal for our client.

What we do:

- Financial and tax due diligence
- Structuring for tax efficiency
- Quality of Earnings analysis including validation of add-backs and cash proofs
- Working capital requirement analysis
- Cash flow due diligence
- Internal controls due diligence
- Identify unrecorded assets and liabilities
- Evaluate purchase agreement terms and conditions
- Post-acquisition integration assistance and transaction reporting
